Parental Engagement in Your child’s Learning: You are engaged when you:

• Talk positively about school.
• Have high expectations (that they do their best).
• Support your child’s consistent and punctual attendance at school.
• Ensure they have a healthy diet and enough rest.
• Develop a good working relationship with your child's teacher/s.
• Ensure that your child has the time, space and resources to do their homework.
• Talk with your child about school
• Taking their age into account, talk with your child about current affairs.
• Provide opportunities to experience a range of cultural and social experiences.
• Participate in the life of their school community.
• Read aloud with your child and/or encourage them to read often.
• Be a positive advocate for your child's learning, social and emotional needs.
• Encourage and praise qualities such as persistence and having a go.
• Encourage your child by acknowledging their successes.
• Acknowledge that you are your child’s first (and lifelong) teacher.
